

Training Design

Finding the time to develop training for the team or organization is hard to do. With so many priorities, it can be difficult to dedicate resources to create these programs. Whether it is supporting high potential employee growth or setting a new employee up for success, DRIVE TD will work with you to create modern and memorable learning solutions.

WHO IS THIS FOR?

Perfect for smaller businesses that do not have a dedicated training department or for larger businesses that are overwhelmed with training needs.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS WILL LEARN

Contact DRIVE Talent Development to discuss learning needs. Below are a few examples of training programs that can be designed:

- Onboarding – Create a structured program that ensures new employees feel informed, included, and excited for their new job.
- High Potential Program – Give high potentials the skills they need to assume new responsibilities in the future.
- New Product Rollout – Ensure your team understands new offerings and can effectively communicate product features and benefits.
- Company Workshops – Provide an opportunity to connect as a team and learn together.
- Mentorship Program – Develop a formal program to support professional growth.
- Customer Service Training - Ensure training supports your customer service expectations.
