

The Art of Presenting

There is no better feeling than when a presentation goes right. The audience was engaged, they believed in you, and your message was delivered the way you planned. That does not just happen. It takes thoughtful design and practice.

In this course we dive into how to develop the art of presenting. Breaking it down to three C's, participants will learn how to convince others to listen, connect with the audience, and ensure total clarity in the message. Whether it is presenting financial results or leading team meetings, this course will give participants actionable insights to apply to their next presentation.

WHO IS THIS FOR?

This course is ideal for anyone that is looking to develop their presentation skills.

WHAT PARTICIPANTS WILL LEARN

- How to convince others to listen to you
- Confidently delivering your message through body language, tone, and words
- How to connect with your audience
- The power stories play in your message
- How to structure and plan your message
- Establishing effective practice habits

